

NORTH AFRICA CHURCH-PLANTERS

CAURUNA FAMILY

In January 1983, Edwin planted the first Evangelical church on the island nation of Malta. Five years later, the government officially recognized the church.

Edwin was instrumental in planting several of the 18 Evangelical churches in Malta. In 1995, Edwin and Sylvia began traveling to closed North African countries to minister to the expatriate churches.

Although he has remained the pastor of the local church, much of his time is dedicated to working among North Africans. His main activities include organizing an annual consultation in Malta. More than 600 people join this consultation to pray, strategize, and plan how to work together to reach North Africa. Edwin and Sylvia travel all over the region to encourage, educate, equip, empower and engage the indigenous believer.

Edwin is the North Africa and the Middle East Area Regional Director. He also works to raise funds for much needed and strategic projects in the region and to help support North African national church planters.
